

Games and Event Management Systems

Comprehensive Set of Tools

GEMS.pro is created by skilled technicians from a functional blueprint designed by practical users demanding ease-of-use as well as a high degree of rigidity. The system's modules constitute a professional solution for managing all kinds of sports games and events.

Focus on Security

GEMS.pro supports IOC's complete set of rules for security zone management and provides solid registration and accreditation of all involved individuals from participants and special guests to "games family" and volunteers.

Multilingual

GEMS.pro comes with full support for English, French, German and Danish, and the number of supported languages is easily expanded.

Scalability

GEMS.pro can be tuned to accommodate any type of arrangement from the small one-sport regional event to large multi-sports international games.

Medical Reporting

GEMS.pro comes with a fully integrated medical reporting tool that enables on site medical staff and paramedics to record any incident and given treatment during the event. Out of play reporting to sports chefs and mission staff is available as well as a number of statistics for internal use.

People Centric

GEMS.pro puts people at the center by delivering the administrative and logistical tools to make sure everybody gets the best experience – be it the participants, the spectators and specially invited guests or the many volunteers that are often crucial for the event to be a success.

Newest Technology

GEMS.pro is a fully Microsoft .Net-based web application that delivers live content and up to date results services directly to the Internet. As all the systems administrative tools also can be securely accessed via the Internet the host society workforce can collaborate and contribute regardless of individual staff members and games offices physical locations. Using cascading style sheets GEMS.pro can be tweaked to the look and feel of whatever graphic layout might suit the host society and/or event. GEMS.pro is the property of KIMIK iT – a company dedicated to uphold the user-driven enhancement of its portfolio of professional sports IT systems.

Professional Solution

GEMS.pro delivers efficient tools for handling all elements and stages of the event from planning to the closing ceremony. GEMS.pro contains a number of ways to import data from other systems and is equipped with reporting tools that let the user choose what data fields to export into paper forms, excel spreadsheets and/or csv-files.

Multi-Sport

GEMS.pro internally breaks all disciplines down into a number of parametric descriptions and is thus able to handle almost any kind of sport in the world.
